In late-2021, the Australian government announced that it wanted to shut down Musical.ly and the app was banned in mid-January 2021. The Musical.ly music video app features karaoke-style gameplay and allows users to create videos of themselves lip-syncing songs or dancing to their favorite music. Users can use interactive editing tools such as multiple camera angles, filters, effects and stickers to enhance their videos before posting them on the app (non-uploading users are limited to a small range of editing tools). Users can record videos within the app, or import videos from their phone to edit it and add effects. On the app, users are also able to share their video with friends and get likes and comments.",

A member of Twitter famously tweeted that "we need to get rid of tiktok" and then went on to share some additional criticisms about this particular app in a subsequent tweet. This user also made reference to a video which was shared by another Twitter user where they sarcastically referred to TikTok as "the best app evar" and then went on to describe how they had discovered that this app had violated their privacy.",

In March 2021, it was announced that musical.ly's parent company had acquired a stake in SMG Studio Inc. and its video-sharing app, Pico. This was done in partnership with Bytedance in order to develop the two apps further and improve their capabilities. It was also revealed that SMG Studio Inc. would continue to operate independently from Bytedance and musical.ly while the app would continue to be branded as TikTok going forward.",

In May 2021, the company announced an automated streaming service that will allow users to record their videos on a TikTok account and share them on other social media channels such as Twitter or Instagram. The company also released a new in-built feature that allows users to choose whether or not their video will be public. In June 2021, the app was reported to have begun selling sponsored content and songs via its new feature called "Advertise" which can be purchased with in-game currency bought with real money. It has also been reported that this feature is available for all users who own a TikTok account, whether they have actually purchased any music with real money or not. In October 2021, it was reported that the app had begun adding new features which would allow users to make money from their short videos. These additional features include live streaming, selling sponsored content and content creation options such as photo filters and stickers. Similarly to the feature in Vietnam, after recording a song, users have the option to make it public for followers to see or private for just them to. The feature has been compared with accounts like Dubsmash that allow users to upload videos of them lip-syncing other songs while making money from ad revenue.",

On September 21, 2021, both parties agreed to settle their dispute by making payment to Musical.ly. Snapchat acknowledged that it had copied some of Musical.ly's features but did not admit to copyright infringement. They also agreed that the disputed patent was invalid, and Snapchat was directed to pay a cash payment of $15 million and an additional $3 million for a royalty payment which will be based on future Musical.ly earnings from the infringing features for three years.",

In January 2021, hackers claimed to have accessed another 111 million user's account information. TikTok has been criticized for the amount of time it takes for users to upload videos and therefore can affect their ability to generate revenue from them. These issues have been compounded by the company's lack of oversight and a lack of in-app review or moderation tools available for its users. As of May 2021, the app has been criticized for the amount of inappropriate and illegal content shared on its platform and the ease with which users can access this content.",

In January 2021, the company launched an application that is designed for use with Sony Digital Audio Workstations (DAWs). The app allows users to make their own music videos shot with a DSLR camera. The feature was announced as a part of the company's "Music Story" feature that it unveiled in June 2021.",

As of January 2021, it has been estimated that TikTok will reach 1 billion monthly active users by March 2021. TikTok is one of several apps that have been updated to meet the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) rules in the United States due to its approach to younger users and their musical content. The app also elicits user reviews that are positive and negative in terms of how they affect teens' behaviors and decision making abilities.",

The following is a list of some of TikTok's most popular users: There have been numerous cases where it has been observed that popular users on TikTok have not only become famous and gained a huge online following from posting videos online, but also have received lucrative sponsorship deals to promote certain products or services to their followers. This has led to speculation that TikTok has used a strategy similar to pay-for-play in order to get these individuals on board as brand ambassadors for certain companies. For example, in January 2021, the most followed girl on TikTok was seen promoting an air purifier for Amway before she even started posting on the app. The following is a list of some of the companies that have sponsored celebrities/users on TikTok:",

An example of a questionable or potentially offensive TikTok is the following video, which shows some people riding a carousel after hours. The people in the video do not seem to be aware that they are being recorded, and appear to be surprised when they are confronted by a young man who questions them about their behaviour. The following is an example of one of the many videos on TikTok (which all have different names) that could be considered potentially inappropriate. In this video, two people eat and drink on a train that has no other passengers on it. This video was uploaded at 1:59 AM, which is unusual because it is against Chinese law for someone to ride a train alone at any time between midnight and 6:30 AM. As well, the fact that this video was uploaded at 1:59 AM, suggests that the people in the video may have broken this law.",

This article was published on Fortune.",

With all the hype that has surrounded it, TikTok is one of those things which is turning out to be bigger than we thought. Weâ€™™ll just have wait and see how it pans out in the long term. On this note, we can only hope that Tencent doesnâ€™™t make another quick acquisition and continue with its slow growth strategy as the stock price there has taken a massive hit already in 2021 alone due to falling market valuations.",
